B. m. (Feb), by Courageous Cat - Keep the Feeling, by Kris S.. Trainer Servis Jason. Bred by Emily Wygod (NY).

FEELING BOSSY away alertly, had control established after the few first strides, was guided over towards the inside, carved out the pace, well rated and on a loosely-contested lead, continued along under the same set up setting each of the first three fractions, was still well in hand stepping into the stretch, shifted into the two path when called upon for more in the vicinity of the three-sixteenths marker, felt severe pressure from both both sides in the final stages but dug in gamely to preserve the decision. FIFTY FIVE came away without apparent mishap, was strung out four wide on the chute, worked her way closer to the rail traversing the backstretch, picked up interest after more than halfway around the full turn, shoe-horned its way into a tight fit between rivals in the general area of the five-sixteenths pole, bumped with the rail-hugging TABLE FOR SIX and afterwards appeared to make some lighter contact with the hind quarters of FROSTY MARGARITA, took advantage of the loss of ground just suffered by TABLE FOR SIX and tucked along the rail in time to cut the corner into the lane, responded when asked for more, loomed boldly in the final seventy yards but got staved off. WAR CANOE abandoned the inside leaving the three-eighths pole, angled four to five wide into the lane, straightened away and took off in earnest after the winner, finished willingly but came up short. JC'S SHOOTING STAR three wide heading for the backstretch, left it from path four, was driven into the lane, got outfinished in the final furlong. FROSTY MARGARITA sat reserved two wide, brushed with FIFTY FIVE a few jumps shy of the quarter pole, stepped into the stretch and lacked the needed response. TABLE FOR SIX took the inside route, tracking the winner while kept in reserve, got bumped off stride after making contact with the second place finisher with nearly three-quarters completed, swung four wide into the stretch, went about the lane under a light drive. TIZZELLE in the three path heading for the backstretch, moved into path two making her way towards the half mile pole, was moving with interest during the opening stages of the run around the bend when pinched back, was roused to get going again in short order, at this juncture back in path three, swung five wide under encouragement into the lane, settled in at the head of the stretch then was taken in hand for the rest of the journey to the finish line.
