MAJID established control soon after the start, got set up along the inside route, carved out the pace with ALWAYSMINING only applying light pressure to the outside, got set down approaching the quarter pole with some of the others having been called upon for more themselves, ventured onward alternating between the inside route and the two path, depending on whichever side stick work was being utilized by the rider, mustered up good determination to turn back the threesome in hot pursuit, crossing the wire in path two. STILL DREAMING tracked the winner from the pocket, got let out as third fraction was being finalized, shifted into the two path for entrance into the stretch, drafted behind MAJID for a little while before re-tucking along the rail, was the innermost of a trio in pursuit of the top one down the lane, traded leans with ALWAYSMINING with under a furlong to go, being struck left handed at the time with the aforementioned foe likewise being struck, but from the opposite side, came out in a more steady fashion in deep stretch, inducing ALWAYSMINING to shy to the outside too, eventually leading that opponent to get brushed and pinched back, finished off the last few jumps to be the second to cross the finish line. GRUMPS LITTLE TOTS reserved in path two until the half mile pole, tipped one path farther off the rail at that station, ranged up towards the front runners, was set down angling four wide into the stretch, was the outermost of a threesome attempting to cut into the deficit, got held off, made light contact with ALWAYSMINING in the shadow of the wire, due to pressure originating from STILL DREAMING. ALWAYSMINING stalked the winner from the two path, came under a ride turning into the lane, found himself between rivals at the commencement of the stretch run, wasn't getting to the top one but still putting up a good fight to salvage the show when herded to the outside by STILL DREAMING, ultimately getting squeezed out his best stride a short distance from the end. OUTSHINE spotted along the rail in short order, was put to a brisk hand ride moving into the two path past the three-eighths pole, swuing five wide, the widest of all, into the stretch, failed to fire appreciably. Following a Stewards' Inquiry focusing on the stretch drive, in addition to a claim of foul lodged by the rider of ALWAYSMINING against the rider of STILL DREAMING, the latter was disqualified from second and placed fourth for causing interference. An objection lodged by the rider of ALWAYSMINING against the rider of GRUMPS LITTLE TOTS alleging interference was not allowed.
