WHO DEY got away a bit slowly but pulled forward to join FAIR AND SQUARE passing the finish line for the first time, settled in a stalking position through the clubhouse turn, then moved to challenge that rival for the lead with a half-mile to run, traded blows from that point to the finish, exchanging bumps along the way, both horses and riders giving all, then got a favorable head bob at the wire to win a thriller. FAIR AND SQUARE drifted out some after the start, then took the lead past the finish line the first time, had WHO DEY stalking to the outside but was left to dictate the early fractions, met the challenge by the rival near the half-mile pole, then engaged that one in a ferocious battle through the turn and down the stretch, never wavered but got an unlucky head bob at the wire and lost a heartbreaker. SILENCE settled three-wide, was kept to task late, and outfinished the rest for the minor award. TANTRUM raced in mid-pack, dropped to last on the turn, then found a second wind in the stretch and managed to pass a couple of stragglers near the finish line. I WANNA WIN got away best but ceded the front to the top pair passing the finish line for the first time, settled three-wide, got to within three lengths going into the far turn, then was unable to keep up in the late stages. PRIVATE MOMENT came away a little awkwardly, went three wide through the first turn, settled at the back, moved up on the last turn, but was unable to improve and one beat one home.
